

Open Media Communications is an Australian based technology design and integration organisation specialising in audio-visual communications and collaboration solutions (includes video and audio conferencing, digital media streaming and intelligent incident monitoring in real time or recording – over cloud based or traditional IP networks).

Our technical roots originate from IT architecture design and solutions integration encompassing telecommunications networks, broadcast networks and security surveillance, hence we also knowledgeable in general IT consulting and managed services and have the capability of delivering solutions, training and support on a national level.

At Open Media Communications our company values are focused around exceptional service delivery to our clients. We do this by:

Having a close knit team of professionals with a customer care focus.

- Forging trusting relationships with each client and alliance partner
- Delivering uncompromised business integrity and ethics

In addition to this we infuse a business philosophy which compliments our values.□
These are:

- Thought leadership and consultative approach with clients solutions and services
- Continuous investment in technical and professional development of our people

- Match technology solutions with business objectives
- Recognise the need for change in a dynamic world and that flexibility, adaptability and agility are key factors in delivering a business solution

Please contact us for additional information or an informal chat on how we may be able to add value to your business.

